Corporate Volunteer Days

Volunteering at the Garden is a great way to foster teamwork, support environmental sustainability, and discover a hidden jewel in your city!

Projects might include raking, mulching, weeding, bulb planting, tree care, garden bed maintenance, farm projects, and more.

Available: April to June, and September to November
Thursdays, 1pm-4pm

Cost: $1,000 for 15 people, $1,750 for up to 30 (note: larger groups may be split up on different tasks).

The Garden is also a member of Benevity.

Corporate Volunteers Make An Impact

Volunteers makes it possible for QBG to serve the community!

Your hard work...

Supports Cultural Programming

QBG produces public programming that celebrates the rich cultural connections between plants and people—music, dance, art, and more!

The Garden provides meaningful internship opportunities for underserved, local youth from the Queens community.

Promotes Environmental Responsibility

QBG is home to NYC's Compost Project, helping reduce waste and rebuilding City soils by providing knowledge, skills, and opportunities needed to produce and use compost.

The Garden is part of the Queens Greenway, providing healthy habitats for local wildlife.

Encourages Environmental Education

QBG serves as the primary source of botanical education for children and adults in Queens.

The Garden offers city kids a rare opportunity to learn about science and nature through practical, hands-on experiences in nature's classroom!

Queens Botanical Garden is an urban oasis where people, plants, and cultures are celebrated through inspiring gardens, innovative educational programs, and demonstrations of environmental stewardship.

QBG provides environmental education programming for nearly 35,000 school children; Over 2,000 community volunteers and young interns help keep the Garden green and growing; Nearly 265,000 people from Queens and beyond are served onsite or through outreach efforts.
